Tips for Greeting the Customer

- Allow a few minutes for a customer to browse the aisle, so they don't feel pressured.
- Approach with an open-ended question. Open-ended questions invite responses, and get the conversation going. A closed-ended question can be answered "Yes" or "No" and can end the conversation.

Open-Ended

What brings you into the store today?

Looks like you're looking at refrigerators—did you know we have some fantastic deals on those today?

Close-Ended

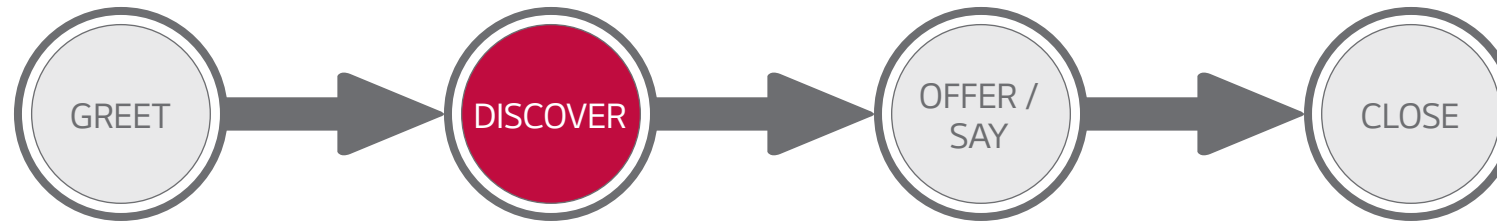

Can I help you find anything?

Did you need some help today?

Tips for a Great Discovery Conversation

- An “open-up” or discovery conversation encourages the customer to talk about their needs and lifestyle.
- It also helps establish their prior knowledge about the category (maybe they’ve already researched the products) and what problems or pain points their previous appliance gave them.
- It’s important to LISTEN not to only what they say, but HOW they say it, so that you can understand what is the most important to them.

What did you dislike about your old refrigerator?

It was loud when it was running; My food didn't stay fresh; It didn't have the latest features; It looked dated in my kitchen.

How often do you entertain?

I host a lot of holidays and parties; I don't really entertain much but I'd like to; I always have friends and family over.

Why are you shopping for a new refrigerator?

Old one broke down; Looking for an upgrade.

How good was your old refrigerator at making ice?

The ice maker took a long time to make ice; Ice would always get stuck together.

How large is your family? Do you shop at warehouse clubs?

I wish there was more space in my refrigerator; I have a big family; I love to entertain; I like to stock up on groceries.

Tips for Offering a Complete Solution

- Here's where you show the customer that you've listened to them and prove that you are their trusted advisor.
- Tie back the solutions you are offering to specific points they mentioned and offer to demo the specific features they may want to know more about.

Say

You mentioned that your last refrigerator broke down after only a couple of years. Did you know that LG is the most reliable and most awarded line of home appliances? So you can feel confident investing in a new LG appliance.

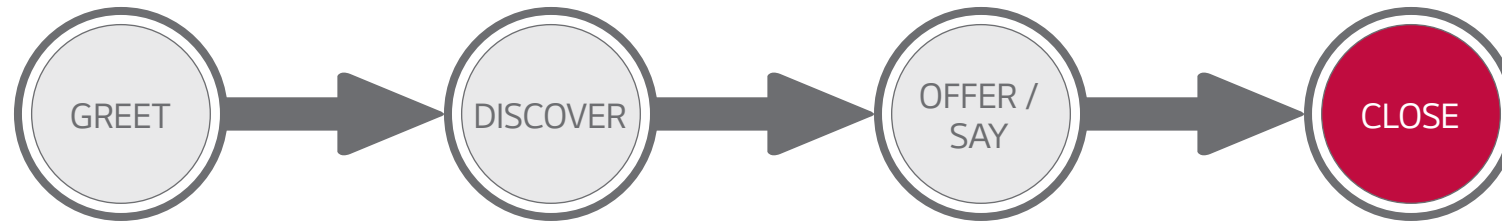

An LG refrigerator with InstaView™ Door-in-Door® will enhance the most beautifully crafted kitchen. The sleek tinted glass panel illuminates with two quick knocks, allowing you to see inside the easy access compartment without ever opening the door, reducing cold air loss to help keep food fresher longer.

There are so many LG features that make entertaining easy. The exclusive round Craft Ice™ takes longer to melt and chills more efficiently. The Full-Convert™ Drawer is so flexible, it can convert from a freezer to a fridge when you need extra space for wine or party appetizers. The Glide N' Serve® Pantry Drawer is perfect for deli trays.

You mentioned that ice was an issue with your old refrigerator. Let me show you some models that feature dual ice makers. Ice is dispensed from the door and located in the freezer compartment, so you never run out. You can enjoy cubes or crushed ice plus LG's exclusive round Craft Ice™ (freezer only).

Let me show you some features that can help. Super capacity refrigerators can store a lot. Our Slim SpacePlus® ice system provides more interior space. Door-in-Door® design for easy access to favorites. Single or double freezer drawers to organize the things you reach for every day.

Tips for Closing the Sale

- An effective close presents a compelling offer to purchase today.
- Remember to present a complete solution—special financing, accessories, delivery, and installation options so that the customer feels completely taken care of.
- Work to minimize returns by thoroughly explaining how to measure for their new appliance so there are no mishaps at installation.

Time-Bound

We have a great promotion ending this weekend. Come on over to the desk so we can go over how to get set up with our no-interest financing so you can take advantage of this deal before its over.

Assumptive

I can have this delivered this weekend. Does that work with your schedule?

Alternative

It sounds like this model is the perfect solution for your family. Did you need the black stainless or silver stainless steel finish to match your other appliances?

“Five-Minute Friends”

Body Language

- Sometimes, it's not what you say but how you say it, and customers pick up on your body language.
- Smiling puts people at ease and makes you more approachable.
- Be somewhat animated. Don't put your hands in your pockets or cross your arms.

Names

- Names are important to use in conversation. Start by giving yours and don't forget to ask for theirs.
- Use their name throughout your conversation. This builds a bond between you and the customer.

Take Notice

- Observe subtle clues about your customer.
- Note details about them to make conversation. Customers like it when you show that you care about them. (i.e., Are they wearing a sports team logo? Do they have children with them? Do they act like they are in a hurry?)

Acknowledge

- Acknowledge the customer's concerns and wants.
- Be a consultant rather than just a seller. Most people don't want to be “sold”, but they do want to be “helped”.
- NEVER ignore what the customer is telling you. You will miss out on buying cues and alienate your customer.

Priorities

- Remember that your priority may not always match up with the customers.
- Take care of their priority first. By doing this, you show that you care about them. The customer will then be more receptive to what you are trying to accomplish.

Close the Sale

- Always tailor your recommendation to the customer's needs and wants.
- Remember the “complete solution” when closing. Help the customer by providing them with everything they will need to get the best experience possible.
