

Ranges

Q. Can I place the gas supply in the left hand cabinet when installing an Epicure range?

A. You can put the valve in the cabinet to the left or right of the range. Make sure to check with your local building code inspector to verify the maximum gas flex hose length allowed in your area. If you do have a cabinet on either side of the range, we recommend installing the valve under the range, toward the front. A hard gas pipe should be strapped to the floor.
